DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1 and 4 are pending in this office action.

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

2. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on June 18, 2008, has been entered.

3. Applicant's arguments, filed June 18, 2008, are moot in view of the new ground of rejection.

Claim Objections

4. Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informalities: the preamble of the claim had some material canceled; however, it appears that the word "non" does not have a strikethrough. The preamble appears to say "encrypting data in a document print job non where." Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

5. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

6. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
7. Claim 4 recites the limitation "the segmentable content-field portions" in the first limitation. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections

8. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

9. Claims 1 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ashizaki et al. (U.S. Patent No. 7,024,500) in view of Yang et al. (U.S. Patent Pub. No. 2004/0109567).

Regarding claims 1 and 4, Ashizaki et al. teaches a method/segmentedly encrypted document print job which preserves options for post-rendering analysis/processing of selected non-content data components, where the print job data includes both content commands and non-content commands which are segmentable, and the content commands include both content field and non-content field portions which are also segmentable, said method comprising:

- Identifying and individuating by segmenting within such job data the content commands relative to the non-content commands (fig. 4 and col. 13, lines 6-20);
and
- Identifying and individuating by segmenting, within such content commands, the content-field portions relative to the non-content field portions (fig. 5 and col. 13, lines 21-39).

Ashizaki et al. does not teach following said identifying and individuating by segmenting, encrypting only the content-field portions of the data contained within the content commands, thereby preserving options for post-rendering analysis/processing regarding data contained in the con-content commands and in the non-content field portions of the content commands.

Yang et al. teaches following said identifying and individuating by segmenting, encrypting only the content-field portions of the data contained within the content commands (fig. 8), thereby preserving options for post-rendering analysis/processing regarding data contained in the con-content commands and in the non-content field portions of the content commands (fig. 8, ref. num 805 and paragraph 0085).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to combine encrypting only the content-field portions of the data contained within the content commands, as taught by Yang et al., with the method of Ashizaki et al. It would have been obvious for such modifications because encrypting a portion of the data helps provide security for use of the printer (see paragraph 0081-0082 of Yang et al.).
